

ABSTRACT

The invention concerns bacterial strains capable of enhanced transformation efficiencies that are produced by the introduction of the F' genetic material. The invention also concerns processes for producing 5 transformable competent bacteria with enhanced transformation efficiencies.